Top Politicians All Are Agreed On Teens' Vote

By The Associated Press

There aren't many issues in the current election campaign on which George Romney, Zolton Ferency, G. Mennen Williams and Robert Griffin all agree. But there is at least one.

All say they are in favor of letting 18-year-old Michigan residents vote.

Despite what the candidates think, few observers dare to predict what the voters will do next Tuesday with a proposed constitutional amendment lowering the voting age to 18.

A simple majority of those voting is all that's required to trim three years off the present constitutional minimum voting age. The 18-year-old vote has already been given two-thirds approval in each house of the Legislature.

Advocates of the amendment argue:

—If you're old enough to fight, you're old enough to vote.

—People are living longer these days and the electorate might become top heavy with elderly voters; this measure would help offset that trend.

—A large proportion of young people are already assuming social and economic responsibilities, and should be allowed to become "political citizens" as well as economic ones.

—Education standards today are higher, and today's high school graduates are at least as well informed as many adults.

Opponents of the 18-year-old franchise counter:

—In many cases, persons under 21 are considered incompetent to handle their own legal affairs; should they be trusted with the vote?

—There's no real basis for comparing voting with military service; you might as well say, "If you're too old to fight, you're too old to vote."

—Many young people are too easily influenced.

—Experience, as well as book learning, are required in a good voter.

—Public affairs involve complex questions which only a mature person can properly analyze and decide.

The minimum voting age is lower than 21 in four states—Georgia (18), Kentucky (18), Alaska (19), and Hawaii (20).

Among those cited by friends of the amendment as having supported enfranchising 18-year-olds are Lyndon Johnson, John F. Kennedy, Dwight Eisenhower, Franklin Roosevelt, Richard Nixon, Barry Goldwater, the late Adlai Stevenson and Detroit Mayor Jerome Cavanagh.

They note that both Republicans and Democrats endorsed lowering the voting age to 18 during their recent state conventions.

Highway's Icy:

Region Slapped By First Storm

Slapped by its first snowstorm of the season, the Upper Peninsula today was returning to schedule after traffic was disrupted by wind, snow and icy roads.

Highway travel was slowed to a crawl in many places but no roads were closed. Slippery spots were being sanded by road crews today.

There were several accidents in the area on icy roads, including one in which the driver was thrown into the windshield and is in fair condition at St. Francis Hospital today.

State Police of the Stephenson post reported that Henry A. Philemon, 41, of Wilson, was injured when his car went out of control and hit the ditch on the Hannahville Road at 12:30 a. m. today. Another motorist called State Police and Philemon was admitted to the hospital about 3 a. m. suffering severe face cuts and other injuries.

Air Service Slewed

Russell Ross of 513½ Wisconsin Ave., Gladstone, ran off U. S. 2-41 in Wells Township and struck a sign at 12:25 p. m. Thursday. He was slightly hurt. State Police of the Gladstone post gave him a notice for driving too fast for conditions.

Betty Wigger, 1115 Minnesota, Gladstone, escaped injury when the car she was driving skidded and hit a road sign on U. S. 41 north of Rapid River Thursday.

Cars driven by Patricia McCann, Anoka, Minn., and Mrs. Violet Mack, 206 N. 21st St., Escanaba, collided on U. S. 2-41 west of the Escanaba city limits at 4:35 p. m. Thursday, State Police reported.

The McCann car spun out of control and struck the Mack auto. Mrs. McCann received a notice for violation of the basic speed law, driving too fast for conditions. No one was injured.

North Central Airlines reported that all flights from Escanaba were on schedule Thursday, but a problem continues at Marquette. Both the noon and 9:45 p. m. flights to Marquette were terminated at Escanaba and resumed this morning.

Continued Cold

The U. S. Weather Bureau's long-range forecast is for temperatures 5 to 9 degrees below normals. There will be only minor day to day change in the cold for the Upper Peninsula, with some snow flurries.

The early snow posed its greatest effect upon deer hunting, with the Michigan split season scheduled to open Saturday, Nov. 12 in the Upper Peninsula.

Joseph Vogt, game biologist for the Escanaba District (Marquette and Delta counties and west Alger) of the Conservation Department, said that if the snow persists—"and I hardly expect the two feet reported near Lake Superior to disappear completely"—it could affect hunting seriously.

Vogt explained that the unusually early start of winter could drive the deer off their summer range and into winter shelter. This concentration would spoil hunt chances for many hunters because the deer would no longer be about in normal mid-November range. Many of them would have gone into more inaccessible areas. The "snow scare" also affects hunters psychologically; some from the Lower Peninsula fear being caught by snow in back country and they skip the hunt or stay downstate.

Skiing Starts

The Conservation Department snow gauge reading at Gwinn on Wednesday was already 16 inches.

In the western end of the Upper Peninsula the Thursday snowstorm brought on the earliest opening of the ski season there in history. Usually there's not enough snow to ski on until December, but Gene Devine, Milwaukee Sentinel writer, reported on a visit to the Escanaba Daily Press Thursday afternoon that Indianhead Mountain ski resort would open on Saturday.

"I have been visiting the major ski Lake States resorts to write a story about their operations," said Devine. "All of them talk of entertaining 60,000 guests last winter, so this has become a very big business. I was at Indianhead when its boss, Jack English, phoned from a ski meeting in Detroit to ask about conditions. They told him that they had 24 inches of snow and he told them to open the hills on Saturday."

Devine was on his way to Boyne Mountain ski complex

Winter Sports Meet Snowed Out

PETOSKEY (AP)—Like many places in Michigan, Petoskey got its share of snow Thursday. In fact, the northern Lower Peninsula city got so much snow its winter sports committee had to cancel its meeting. The committee had planned to consider arrangements for the annual winter sports carnival scheduled for the end of January.

U.N. Charges Brutality In Korea Ambush

PANMUNJOM, Korea (AP) -- The United Nations Command produced a bloody glove and blood-soaked bandages today to back up its charge that North Korean Communists brutally killed six Americans and a South Korean south of the demilitarized zone in the closing hours of President Johnson's visit to Korea.

U.S. Maj. Gen. Richard Ciccolella told an emergency meeting of the U.N.-Communist Military Armistice Commission the glove came from a North Korean soldier and the bandages bore markings showing they were made by the Pyongyang Medicine Manufacturing Co. Pyongyang is the capital of North Korea.

"Not satisfied with the murder of our troops," he told North Korean Maj. Gen. Park Chungkook, "your vicious bandits then mutilated their heads with rifle butts, thus turning a vicious crime into an act of savage atrocity."

He said the heads of some of the dead men were smashed "in such savage brutality as to render all recognition impossible."

The Communists called the U.N. charges "a slanderous distortion."

Arno River Flood Hits At Florence

FLORENCE, Italy (AP) — The rain-swollen Arno River rose over its banks today and invaded this famous Renaissance city and dozens of outlying communities in a disastrous flood.

In its worst flood since World War II, the muddy, debris-clogged waters of the Arno spilled into the historic area of downtown Florence centering around the shop-lined Ponte Vecchio (Old Bridge).

Hundreds of residents fled to the upper floors of their homes or hastened to higher parts of the city.

The flood waters burst water mains and short-circuited electric and communications cables. Whole sections of the city were without drinkable water and electricity.

Sharp Fighting Erupts Today Near Cambodia

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) — American and South Vietnamese troops tangled separately with Communist forces in sharp ground fighting today near the Cambodian border while the air war in the North went on at a quickened pace.

Vietnamese military spokesmen reported the heaviest action of the day, claiming a company of about 80 militamen repelled a 700-man Communist force in almost five hours of hard fighting before dawn.

The American command said that just a few miles away units of the 25th Division's 196th Light Infantry Brigade battled all day to wipe out a series of Communist bunkers in an area where the U.S. troops fought two stiff jungle engagements Thursday.

A spokesman said the fighting was continuing late today.

Losses Moderate

The Vietnamese said 52 men of the reinforced Communist battalion were killed and five captured in their battle near Tay Ninh, about 60 miles northwest of Saigon. Government casualties were reported moderate, meaning a considerable number of killed or wounded.

A search of the battlefield after dawn turned up a variety of weapons, a spokesman said, including two Chinese Communist flame throwers, 75mm recoilless rifles, antitank weapons, and a number of machineguns.

The American infantrymen who fought nearby were engaged in Operation Attleboro, which had killed 10 Viet Cong and captured five others by Thursday afternoon.

Reports of the action today were incomplete, the American spokesman said.

Destroy Shipping

For the third day in a row, skies were relatively clear over North Viet Nam Thursday after almost a week of bad weather. American pilots flew 155 missions in the Hanoi, Haiphong and southern panhandle areas.

Pilots reported destruction of 8 bridges, 14 cargo barges, 25 buildings, 48 trucks, 3 cargo junks, 2 antiaircraft sites, and 2 pontoon bridge segments, as well as damage to other targets, including two railroad yards.

Oldest U Grad Celebrates 100

PANAMA CITY, Fla. (AP) — Edward Noah Pagelsen took his usual morning walk in unseasonable 40-degree weather Thursday, the day he celebrated his 100th birthday.

"It's not too chilly for me," said Pagelsen, who was born a year after the Civil War ended and is now living under the administration of a second President Johnson.

"When you're one hundred years old and all your old friends have been gone for almost 40 years you don't really yen for a long life, but then you don't want to give it up either," he said.

Pagelsen says he is the oldest living graduate of Michigan State University, an 1889 graduate with degrees in chemical and civil engineering. He attends the university's activities every year

A native Grand Haven, Mich., Pagelsen helped organize and served as the first president of the First Federal savings and Loan Association the city had.

During World War II, he was called to Detroit to head the patent section of the Detroit Ordinance. At the time he was 77.

Pagelsen has two sons, Edward of Louisville, Ky., and Charles of Fort Walton Beach, Fla.

PRESIDENT JOHNSON announces at the White House he will undergo surgery in 15 or 18 days. He said an operation will be performed to repair a defect at the site of the incision made for his gall bladder operation a year ago. The President added that doctors also will remove a small polyp from his throat. With the announcement, Johnson bowed out of the campaign for next week's elections. (AP Wirephoto)

Johnson Cuts Political Tour; Plans Surgery

Romney-Ferency Share Platform

By The Associated Press

Michigan's top three political candidates shared the speakers platform—but little else—Thursday.

The fourth rested at home with a candidate's occupational disease: laryngitis.

Gov. George Romney, U. S. Sen. Robert Griffin and Democratic gubernatorial challenger Zolton Ferency addressed a regional conference of the Michigan Education Association in Detroit's cavernous Convention Arena.

Democratic Senate candidate G. Mennen Williams sent U. S. Rep. James G. O'Hara in his place. Williams has lost his voice and cannot speak above a croaking whisper.

Ferency arrived first; he was sitting on the platform when Romney arrived and applauded politely when Romney made his entrance.

Romney spoke first, praising the accomplishments of his administration in the area of education; Ferency followed, criticizing the same administration. Romney had already left.

Much of Romney's speech seemed intended to counteract any criticism Ferency might levy. Democrats, for instance, have repeatedly pointed out that the Democrat-controlled legislature appropriated substantially more money for education than Romney has recommended in his budgets.

The reason, Romney said, is that there is a six-month time lapse between the time his budgets are drawn up and the time they were passed by the Legislature.

Lawmakers by that time have a better idea as to how much money is available.

Romney called for more federal and state support for education, increased compensation for teachers—"salaries equal to their responsibilities" — and fiscal reform to produce enough revenue to allow the state to give greater support to education.

Ferency, whose wife is a school teacher and on whose salary his family has been living since his campaign started, listed similar goals.

Moscow-N. Y. Air Service Link Agreed

WASHINGTON (AP) — U.S. and Soviet officials sign an agreement today authorizing the first direct air service between Moscow and New York.

The ceremony in a State Department conference room signals a slight thaw in relations between the two world powers. The pact was reached and initialed five years ago, but its formal acceptance has been delayed by various pressures of the cold war.

The Soviet Union's minister of civil aviation, Air Force Gen. Yevteniy F. Loginov, and Llewellyn E. Thompson, U.S. ambassador-at-large are to sign the agreement opening the way for flights on the 5,000-mile transatlantic route.

But officials said the air service will not start before next spring. They explained the designated airlines — Pan American Airways and Aeroflot — first must complete technical arrangements.

The agreement was envisaged in a 1958 cultural agreement and was worked out in the summer of 1961 in Washington. But on Aug. 21, 1961, shortly after the Berlin wall went up, the State Department said it was "not an appropriate time" to sign a formal agreement.

Since then the subject has been somewhat of a barometer of the international situation. Interest in it was revived several months ago when President Johnson proposed a series of small steps to improve East-West relations, including the air agreement, increased trade and a treaty to preserve outer space for peaceful use.

Negotiations on the air service resumed last month after New York meetings between Secretary of State Dean Rusk and Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei A. Gromyko.

The estimated 20,000 U.S. and Canadian tourists flying to the Soviet Union each year have been making the trip via foreign airlines which make intermediate stops in Western Europe.

Begins 2-Week Rest At Ranch In Texas Today

Doctors say his general health is excellent and there is no indication of any serious problem in relation to the surgery.

Today, Johnson heads for his Texas ranch to begin a two-week rest on doctors' orders. It means the 58-year-old President will be relaxing, not campaigning, in the three days before Tuesday's state and congressional elections.

Before he flies south, Johnson holds a broadcast and televised news conference and plans to put in "a rather heavy day" at the White House, signing bills and clearing his desk of business.

The news conference is scheduled for 10 a.m. EST.

The operation, in doctors' language, is to remove a throat polyp and to correct an incisional hernia.

Short Operation

It is expected to take less than an hour. Johnson's physicians said the President would be hospitalized for several days.

The Columbia Broadcasting System said Johnson would enter Bethesda Naval Hospital on Nov. 21. But the White House insisted there has been no decision on where the surgery will be conducted. The naval hospital is in a Maryland suburb of the capital.

"The date has not been picked nor has the hospital been picked," Bill D. Moyers, press secretary, said Thursday night.

Johnson made his medical announcement in the White House Cabinet room Thursday. While newsmen assembled, Johnson slouched back in his chair and joked about the rigors of the Pacific mission he completed Wednesday night.

Makes Announcement

Then, matter-of-factly, he read his startling news: "Good afternoon, ladies and gentlemen. I wanted you to know that my doctors have recommended that I undergo surgery."

He said it will take place in 15 to 18 days.

Vice Adm. George G. Burkley, the White House physician, said there was "no indication of any serious problem" in connection with Johnson's abdomen or throat.

"And his general health continues to be excellent," Burkley said.

Surgeons removed Johnson's faulty gall bladder and a kidney

He said the plane was taking part in military exercises with units of the U.S. 6th Fleet when it disappeared.

City Recreation Building Target Date: Sept. '67

Escanaba will have a new recreation building by Sept. 1, 1967, on the city watertower site if the schedule is kept that the City Council set at a meeting Thursday night.

After considerable discussion following a report from Paul Vardigan, city recreation director, the Council set Jan. 1, 1967, as the target date for the selection of an architect to design the proposed facility; and Sept. 1, 1967, to have the building completed for public use.

The building project will be financed by about $300,000 in Catherine Bonifas funds. The late Mrs. Bonifas, widow of millionaire William Bonifas, gave the money to the city and the Councilmen serve as trustees of the funds.

Councilman Edward Cox led the discussion against delay in getting the architect hired and the building started as soon as possible.

College Interested

Councilman George Rusch and Mayor Harold Vanlerberghe suggested that federal funds might be available to augment the recreation building project.

Cox said that was agreeable with him so long as there were no delays in getting the recreation facility up and in use. Club 314 is old and unsuited to a good recreation program, he said.

Cox called proposals to have Bay de Noc Community College seek state funds for the project, with the College using the facilities also, "muddying the waters again." He foresaw only further delays if the city sought to combine city, county, state and federal funds in financing the project.

Councilman Rusch declared the proposed recreation building duplicates all of the facilities now to be found in the community, but it does not have a swimming pool—the one facility Escanaba does not have.

Agree On Site

The discussion moved over a wide range of possibilities: A recreation facility combined with a U. P. State Fair exhibition building, a swimming pool attached to the Area Public High School, and to proceed with the Bonifas funds now at hand to construct a building at the watertower site.

In previous meetings there had been some disagreement over site. The Recreation Board, Planning Commission, and the planning consultants have all recommended the watertower location, which the city owns.

Mayor Vanlerberghe, in reviewing the discussion on recreation building plans, agreed that "let's get something moving," and the Council established the target dates.

Conferring with the Council on the subject were Vardigan, Howard Dufour and Lyle Plowman of the Recreation Commission; and Richard Rinehart, president, Bay de Noc Community College.

Harbor Building

The Council in other business:

Accepted the bid of Stropich Construction Co., Escanaba, to build a harbor master building at the yacht basin at a cost of $19,950. It was the only bid received. The Waterways Commission will share $10,000 in the cost of the project.

Approved purchase subject to City Manager George Harvey of three police cars from the Northern Motor Co. at a net price of $3,709.95. It was the lowest of two bids.

Invited Escanaba citizens to suggest names of individuals who might be willing to serve on a Citizens Advisory Committee for a planning study. The committee will be named at the next meeting of the Council.

Valuations Asked

Awarded to the Bark River Equipment Co. the contract to supply the city with a bulldozer at a cost of $11,800. The bid of the firm was the lowest among those meeting specifications.

At the conclusion of the meeting, Councilman Cox raised a question relating to information supplied to the Council on the assessed values of certain downtown properties.

Cox indicated the figures were presented to the Council at a meeting not open to the public.

"There's no such thing as a closed meeting of the Council," Mayor Vanlerberghe said.

"Well, I just wanted to know if those figures were taken out of the air, or what," said Cox.

The city manager said that he will get the information on the assessed values of the properties and present them to the Council.

Ruppe Charges Frank Misuse

HOUGHTON — A four page piece of literature mailed by Congressman Raymond Clevenger this week under the congressman's free mailing privilege was attacked by Philip Ruppe, Clevenger's Republican opponent today.

"I am shocked," Ruppe said, "that my opponent would resort to sending out last minute campaign propaganda at the taxpayers expense."

Ruppe said the pamphlet, carrying Clevenger's picture and entitled " 'A Do-Something Congress' was a thinly disguised campaign effort that cost the taxpayers over $5,000 just to mail it."

Wrote Clevenger

"I can't believe every taxpayer in Northern Michigan wants to pay for my opponent's campaign," Ruppe said. "Our laws should be tightened to prevent such misuse of the free mailing privilege for electioneering. When you add in all the 'official' visitors from Washington who have come into Northern Michigan to speak for my opponent, you'll find the taxpayers are picking up a pretty sizable chunk of his campaign, but a free political mailing at the last minute is pushing a bit too much."

Ruppe said he has written Clevenger and asked him to refund the amount of postage paid for by the taxpayers to the Post Office Department.

Congressman Raymond F. Clevenger said today that it is the duty of a Congressman to keep his constituents informed about the actions of Congress. This he has done, Clevenger said, in a report entitled "A Do-Something Congress."

Clevenger's use of the congressional franking privilege to make this report to his constituents has been criticized by his Republican opponent, Phil Ruppe.

"Most Appropriate"

"The 89th Congress adjourned Oct. 22, and I think this was a most appropriate time to report on its activities to the people living in Upper Michigan," Clevenger said.

"Based on my opponent's point of view, I can only assume that he is opposed to keeping the people informed."

The report on congressional activities has appeared in the Congressional Record, Clevenger said.

Clevenger said that his opponent's running mate, Senator Robert P. Griffin, distributed a similar news letter throughout the State under the franking privilege just before the primary election last August in which he was a candidate.

Rev. Carl Fredrickson

Rev. Fredrickson To Speak At Christ The King

Christ The King Lutheran Church will have the Rev. Carl Fredrickson, L. C. A. Missionary to Uruguay as its speaker at both the 8 and 11 a. m. worship services this Sunday, Nov. 6. He will also conduct the celebration of Holy Communion.

Pastor Fredrickson, missionary of the Board of World Missions of the Lutheran Church in America, went to Costa Rica in 1961 for a year of language study and began service in Uruguay in September 1962 under the auspices of the former Augustana Lutheran Church.

Pastor Fredrickson works in Punta Gorda, a suburb of Montevideo. This is an upper class community and reflects the religious parcenages in Uruguay: — Protestant, 2 per cent; Roman Catholic, 12 per cent; with the rest outside any church. The work is difficult and slow in results.

A native of Escanaba, Pastor Fredrickson is the son of Mr. Charles Fredrickson and the brother of Mrs. Charles Fletcher of Soo Hill who are members of Christ The King Lutheran Church. Pastor Fredrickson received his B. A. degree from Olivet College in 1956 and the B. D. degree from Augustana Theological Seminary in 1961. In August 1960 he married the former Clara Helen Skoug. They have a son, Charles Allen, born in Illinois and a daughter, Signe Kay, born in Uruguay on June 8, 1964.

The Fredricksons had one term of orientation at the Maywood School of Missions before leaving the United States. Their commissioning service was at Bethany Lutheran Church, Escanaba in 1961.

Kid Pressure On The Voters

TOWSON, Md. (AP) — The Maryland youngster who collects the most "I voted today" cards from registered voters after Maryland's election Tuesday will win a prize.

A group of Goucher College students, led by the presidents of the female college's Young Democrats Club and Young Republican Club, launched the drive Thursday in an effort to increase voting.

Renee Bonynge of Warren, Conn., of the Young Republicans; and Eleanor Littman of the Young Democrats, said voters will sign the cards and names will be checked against registration rolls.

Ban Parking At Bark River

LANSING — The State Highway Commission announced today that parking will be prohibited on a half-mile section of U. S. 2 in the Delta County community of Bark River.

The parking ban extends from a point two-tenths of a mile east of County Road No. 535 to a point three-tenths of a mile west of the county road.

The parking ban was recommended following a study of the area by the Michigan State Police and Highway Department traffic engineers who found that parking "is causing an accident potential and interfering with the through movement of traffic."

"Removal of parking would greatly increase the ease of turning movements at both County Roads No. 535 and B-20," their report said.

State Highway Director Howard E. Hill and State Police Commissioner Fredrick E. Davids signed a joint order establishing the no-parking zone.

The parking ban will go into effect as soon as no-parking signs can be erected.

Submarine Tiru Runs On Reef Near Australia

BRIUXACE, Australia (AP) — Relief ships steamed today toward the U.S. submarine Tiru, aground on a reef 300 miles off the northeast coast of Australia. The sub reported none of its 80 men was injured and the ship appeared to be in no immediate danger.

The Tiru was reported lodged above the surface of the water on Frederick Reef, in the Coral Sea due east of Port Mackay and about 75 miles off the Great Barrier Reef.

U.S. naval authorities in Hawaii said the crew made an unsuccessful attempt to float the submarine at high tide shortly after midnight EST.

The first U.S. ships were expected at the scene about noon EST.

A U.S. Navy spokesman at Pearl Harbor, headquarters for the U.S. Pacific Fleet, said the Tiru ran aground during a routine training operation.

The Tiru, built in 1947 at Mare Island Navy Yard in California, is 336 feet long. She is of the 1,526-ton Balao class and has ten 21-inch torpedo tubes.

Slow Mails Delay Lecture Series

ANN ARBOR (AP)—Two University of Michigan lecture series have been delayed because of slow mail delivery, a university spokesman said Thursday.

Thomas S. Roberts, of the university's School of Business Administration, said the 10,000 brochures sent by third-class mail to prospective patrons were delayed as much as a month.

He said this forced a decision to delay the lectures from November to early December.

The lectures, "The Managerial Image" and "The Expanding Management Universe," will be held at 12 Michigan cities. More than 1,700 business executives are expected to attend.

Blatnik Praises Rep. Clevenger At Testimonial

WAKEFIELD— Congressman John A. Blatnik (D-Minn.) Wednesday night promised to work with Rep. Raymond F. Clevenger in developing "comprehensive programs for the whole head of the Great Lakes," directing particular attention to "better utilization of timber resources and roads."

At a testimonial dinner for Clevenger in Wakefield, Blatnik told 100 supporters of Clevenger "It's amazing in one term what this man has done".

"When I first met him in Washington I could feel at once that he was speaking my language and the language of the North Country that I love."

"President Johnson said 'Let us Continue' and we did continue, and we couldn't have done it without these 71 freshmen Congressmen. The compassion, the feeling of the people, was translated into instruments that could enact legislation."

Labor Shortage Suggests Lumber Jills

By JEAN WORTH

Is the Upper Peninsula on its way to hiring Lumber Jills to meet the shortage of Lumber Jacks?

The U. P., of course, has had women pulpwood cutters and cedar post cutters for many years: not many of them, but a few. It has had more women workers in wood processing plants, but not many even there.

When Michigan Tech's Institute of Wood Research assembled a team of management experts to counsel U. P. wood industry managers about new methods in clinics at Iron Mountain and Escanaba, it resulted in a suggestion that one way to ease the labor shortage in the Upper Peninsula's wood industries is to employ more women.

The suggestion was only one of many for changes in the Peninsula's industries that use wood as a basic material.

Cites War Use

It came from Serge A. Birn, chairman of the board of Serge A. Birn Co., of Louisville, Ky., who is just back from a study of manufacture in Europe. He made a study there of the question: "Are European labor costs really lower?" His finding: "Not really."

Birn said that in World War II and in the Korean War U. S. industry used more women for labor and that it can be done today to relieve the labor shortage. European industries, he said, have 4.3 million foreign workers. Britain has imported West Indians. Morrocans are working in West Germany.

"The labor shortage is real," said Birn. "There are lots of ways of combatting it. They include women, better methods and incentives of one form or another, which means that if a worker produces more he gets more.

"Wood workers," he said "are traditionally paid lower wages (than those in metal industries). They're the bottom of the barrel in labor. This can be corrected by using women, because while $1.90 an hour is low pay for a man, it is not low pay for Rosie the Riveter. We need to select the right women, of course, and the U. S. and state employment agencies are usually very helpful in this process."

"It's Dead"

Birn also urged psychological testing of supervisors in wood industry.

When a manager suggested to Birn that the unions oppose incentives he said "When management gives up the right to manage — it's dead."

Vincent Ross, of Ross Associates of Asheville, N. C., a professional wood technologist who is a consultant to the furniture industry, told Upper Peninsula mill managers how to increase their lumber utilization.

We're moving into a new era of wood industry, he said, in which the plant operators will be able to get predictions about the species of woods and the amounts that will be available for harvest in the forests. With these forecasts the industries can plan their manufacturing and marketing operations.

Fighting Waste

One of their biggest problems, he said, will continue to be waste. The furniture industry waste of wood is 10 or 15 per cent. "In Carolina a mill will cut $3.5 million world of lumber a year and 10 or 15 per cent of that is a substantial amount, said Ross and makes it worth training operators so they can reduce it. "But many in the business have accepted waste as a matter of course," said Ross.

He gave the managers specific suggestions on setup of a rough mill to reduce waste like back gauges on cut-off saw tables, minimum and trims, a guideline light over the busting saw, use of the thinnest saws possible with stiffening collars.

Frequent yield studies in the rough mill were advised. Ross said Carolina experience showed yellow poplar would yield an average 5 per cent more than hard maple, and that, depending on species, thickness may have an adverse or beneficial effect on total yield. "Increasing lumber yield is one of the best ways to increase profits quickly. It usually requires little capital investment and the investment of time is quite small compared to the benefits derived from the end result."

Need For Accounting

R. J. Lutwitzi, Ironwood certified public accountant, said some small businesses regard accounting as unproductive and a waste of money. A lot of small businessmen, he said, wouldn't keep books if they didn't have to for the tax collector.

"But Dun & Bradstreet says that 94 per cent of business failures are due to bad management and in practically all of them the major cause is management ineptitude or inexperience because they don't have the facts on which to base a decision. Half the managers aren't aware of the advantages of a good accounting system and go ahead on guesswork."

Lutwitzi said that many small businesses do not have their records ready for an accountant and as a result he has to do much clerical work that should have been done before his visit by lower paid help.

Hart Proposes Auto Insurance Federal Backup

DETROIT (AP)—Sen. Philip A. Hart, D-Mich., said Thursday he would back federal legislation providing government insurance to auto insurance policy holders.

Hart, chairman of the Senate Antitrust and Monopoly subcommittee, made the announcement in a speech to the Society of Chartered Property and Casualty Underwriters.

He said the insurance would be similar to the type offered by the Federal Deposit Insurance Corp., which backs up each bank deposit to a maximum of $10,000.

Hart said the legislation is necessary because of the high failure rate of high-risk insurance companies. These firms, he said, fold unexpectedly and leave their customers holding the bag.

"In the past six years," said Hart, "at least 65 of these companies have gone under. Three of them were in Michigan, and a total of 30,000 persons who had paid premiums were left without protection.

Better Schools Make A Better Community

The Escanaba public schools are marking their hundredth birthday Saturday evening with a centennial banquet at Escanaba Area High School.

The centennial celebration follows hard on those marking the 100th year of the city and of the iron port and provides the occasion for a happy review of all the benefits that schooling has brought to the community.

When Escanaba was created and its first little school was built the needs for schooling were very small compared to the needs for it today. Then a working knowledge of the English language, some simple arithmetic and a little knowledge of the world sufficed.

Schooling graduated from an elementary status to secondary (high) school (only two years) which graduated its first class in 1881. This growth was as much a product of demand for more knowledge and more skills as a natural evolution of learning process into broader dimensions. The culture and the economy were growing and making more demands upon the schools.

In the same week in which the schools hold their 100th birthday party the State of Michigan started a series of reports on its manpower study—the first in the nation—in Escanaba. It is an effort to describe the characteristics of the labor force of Michigan and to project them so that there will be knowledge of the skills which will be needed in advance of the actual time of need, so that the schools may train people in the skills that will be needed.

The educators at the meeting were told that sociologists now believe that in the future there will be such constant changes in the national technology that a person will go through two or three work cycles in his lifetime, so that he will have to be retrained several times in different skills to keep him employable.

This is such a new outlook on education as a lifetime process for even the breadwinner that the current era has been called the Human Resources Era. It follows the Agricultural Era, which ended in the late 1800s when Escanaba was getting its first high school, and the Manufacturing Era, which prevailed through the late 1950s.

The new Human Resources Era will mean more professional people in our society, more white collar workers, more persons in service trades. While there will be only a 1.9 per cent a year increase in employment between 1960 and 1980 there will be a 4 per cent increase in civil engineers, a 4.9 per cent increase in electrical engineers, a 6 per cent increase in medical and dental technicians, a 5.6 per cent increase in physical science technicians.

The road ahead to the schoolhouse widens impressively and not only because our technology is becoming increasingly sophisticated, but also because this is truly the Human Resources Era, relying essentially not on machines of increasing complexity for progress, but upon the human mind as developed to new brilliance by schooling. We will be increasingly concerned not only with making a living, but also with learning to live under new conditions of population density, supersonic travel, affluence and internationalism. The true civic center of our future is our campus.

ISSUI

The present election campaign is unique in that most of the candidates seem to avoid discussing the issues, real or pretended. Among the issues, as I see them are:

The War in South Viet Nam. It seems rather strange to me that a country no larger than Missouri and with a population less than California's has the ability to tie up the military potential of the United States, the richest and most powerful nation on earth. This would seem to indicate that there is something rotten, and it isn't in Denmark.

Another issue is the breakdown of law and order. David Lawrence wrote in U.S. News & World Report recently: "Historians someday will write that the United States in the 1960's experienced an era of anarchy unparalleled in a free country governed by a written Constitution and once dedicated to the principles of law and order. We are today on the verge of a complete breakdown of our governmental structure."

A third issue is inflation, a spiraling ascent in the cost of living created by the senseless fiscal policies of the Johnson Administration. Strange isn't it that the more we make the less we have? Esther Peterson, LBJ's economic adviser tells us to refrain from eating meat. I would like to enlighten her to the truth that there are hundreds of thousands of senior citizens and people with large families who no longer can afford to eat meat.

A fourth issue is the plight of the American dollar. The nation's gold reserves have dwindled from a whopping $26 billion to $13.2 billion. "Foreigners hold $28.6 billion of United State's IOUs, if at any time they would demand payment we would be technically bankrupt," says George Harris in Look Magazine, Nov. 1, 1966.

There are other issues but it seems to me that none of these are the real issues, but simply symptoms of what the real trouble which is the drift away from constitutional government to government by executive decree, and decrees from various government agencies and the Supreme Court.

James Reston writing in the Milwaukee Journal, Oct. 30, states that the President: "Is dominating and weakening every political institution in the capitol. Not only the Republican opposition, but the Cabinet, the National Security Council, the Foreign Relations Committee and everything established over the years to assure orderly decision making responsible dissent."

In a recent interview, Howard Smith, who represented Virginia in the Congress for more than 30 years, when asked how he viewed the future, stated: "I can't be very optimistic. I am apprehensive of the future." He based his apprehension on the drift from constitutional government . . .

The disturbing element in the present situation is that we seem to have thrown away all thought of keeping the United States a republic governed by its constitution, and like sheep we are blindly following in the way that must lead to ultimate disaster. What happened in Germany is occurring here, what happened in Russia under Lenin and Stalin is not far from our own doors . . .

The problem facing the people of the U.S.A. on Nov. 8, is that of cleaning out all representatives and senators possible who have "been sheep" following LBJ's line.

Improve On Silence

By WASHINGTON STAFF

WASHINGTON — (NEA) — New York Gov. Nelson Rockefeller on the hustings likes to defend his tax increases since 1959 by saying that they have accounted for only $2 billion out of a broad personal income boost of $18 billion for New Yorkers in that span. The rest, he says, goes into individual pocketbooks.

Once when he made that point, a woman nearby opened her purse and looked inside to see where her share was. She gave the governor a frown as if to say "it's not here." Laughed Rocky:

"Well, it's pretty well-distributed!"

A certain top Rockefeller campaign manager (nameless) is known in the governor's hierarchy as "Earth" because his language tends more often than not to be earthy. The governor himself is, understandably, called "Sun."

One of the richest traditions in New England's upper tier—Vermont, New Hampshire and Maine—is that outsiders are tolerated only in strict silence. Strangers, the rule of thumb goes, can claim a moral victory if they elicit a cough from a true Vermont Yankee.

But not any more, claims a gabby Vermont lawyer. "We used to be a mite taciturn, but nowadays we go out of our way to make a stranger feel welcome," he drawls.

"'Course, you're not a stranger,' he adds, "after you've lived here for 35 years."

Actually, claims Sen. Edmund Muskie, D-Maine, the only reason Yankees act this way is because they're humorous people at heart. What better way to set up a victim for the quick riposte than by a little silence?

To illustrate his point, he tells the story of a visitor who used up the better part of an afternoon trying to get some conversation out of a Maine bartender. Finally, in complete frustration, he asked if the town had a law against talking.

"Not a law," he was told, "but we've got an understanding not to say anything unless it improves on silence."

★ ★ ★

Ever since he refused to endorse Barry Goldwater in 1964, Michigan's GOP Gov. George Romney has not been overly stringent in attaching the label "Republican" to himself on campaign posters, spot commercials and the like.

It was natural, therefore, for Zoltan Ferency—his Democratic opponent in the governorship race this year—to crack:

"The other day I called Governor Romney a Republican and I was immediately accused of conducting a smear campaign."

★ ★ ★

Joseph Napolitan, well-publicized "new politics" specialist now trying to help elect Milton Shapp, Democrat, as governor of Pennsylvania, denies that politicians have to have wealth of Shapp's kind to win today.

"Anybody can get the money," he says. "All they have to do is borrow it and then hold a deficit dinner and make it back. (Endicott) Peabody (Democratic nominee for U. S. Senate in Massachusetts) is famous for his deficit dinners."

Japan Security Rests On U.S.

TOKYO (AP) — Prime Minister Eisaku Sato says that despite Communist China's explosion of a missile-borne nuclear warhead Japan will continue to rely on the United States for its security from nuclear attack.

"We have the capacity to develop nuclear weapons, but we are not doing so," Sato said. "Our policy is adherence to the nonproliferation of nuclear weapons. We depend on the United States (for protection)."

In an Associated Press interview Sato also praised President Johnson's trip to the Far East because of its possible contribution to the search for peace in Viet Nam.

He declared that Japan, as the greatest industrial power in Asia, but a power which has "abandoned expansion and militarism," is ready to play a major role in trying to bring social and economic stability to the region.

Seek Federal Aid In Stock Feeding

EAST LANSING (AP) — Reporting that drought wiped out the grain crops needed to feed farm livestock, about 25 Northern Michigan counties have asked for federal aid.

Their applications have been submitted to the State Disaster Committee of the Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service. A final decision will be up to the U.S. secretary of agriculture.

The counties have asked to participate in the Emergency Livestock Feed Program, which allows eligible farmers to buy corn for 90 per cent of the support rate, currently $1.23 a bushel.

This corn may be used for foundation stock and breeding herds. Corn for other livestock is available at 115 per cent of the support price under the program.

The list of counties still is subject to change, the service said, as figures on the amount of feed grains available are checked. Some of the counties asking for aid also had drought problems last year.

Revoked Licenses Returned Only After New Tests

LANSING (AP) — Michigan drivers whose licenses were suspended or revoked since Aug. 1 will have to pass driving tests to get them back.

A new state law, which took effect Aug. 1, requires the test before the licenses can be returned to drivers, Secretary of State James Hare said.

The test is the same written and road test given to people applying for their first license.

Secretary of state branch offices will administer the tests at the end of the suspension period, or when a revoked license may be returned.

Campaign Ticket

ROCK HILL, S.C. (AP)—Marshall Parker, one of South Carolina's two Republican candidates for the U.S. Senate, stepped from his car here recently to hand a policeman at the curb a campaign pamphlet.

Instead, the policeman handed Parker a ticket because his automobile carried expired license plates.

Parker paid a $15 fine.

No bidding system can be perfect because there is no way to give a complete picture of every hand. There was no way for South to know that he held a useless queen of diamonds and when he bid four spades he really expected to have a sure thing.

When he saw the dummy he realized that the hand was far from a cinch. There were two heart losers and two probable club losers.

East took his ace of hearts and returned the ten. West won with the jack and shifted to the four of diamonds. South drew trumps, ruffed out his last heart and noted that West produced the king. Then he cashed the last diamond and was ready to attack the club suit.

If his opponents had never bid, South's correct play would be to play ace and a small club. This play would be a winner if either defender held the king-queen of clubs doubleton, if East held the singleton or doubleton king or queen, if West held the doubleton kingten or queen-ten or if West held king-small or queen-small and forgot to drop his honor under the ace.

South knew that these combinations were most unlikely because East had opened the bidding and needed both the king and queen of clubs for his opening bid. This left South with another play. He led his four of clubs and played dummy's nine. West won the trick and had no safe return. If he led a red card South would ruff in dummy and discard his five of clubs. If he led a club South would let it ride around to his jack.

SILENT DEATH

Silent killer. Have you ever heard of it? Could it be in your home?

As many as 100 lives have been lost annually in Michigan to the silent killer despite regular warnings from the State Health Department.

The silent killer is more commonly known as carbon monoxide but gains its nickname because it has no visible color and no odor, but it lurks wherever there is combustion, such as canned heat, gas refrigeration, a furnace, or auto engine.

Prevention is very simple: just provide adequate ventilation. An open window providing a good strong draft in the house, garage or heated car can eliminate almost all of the accidental exposures to carbon monoxide fumes.

Regular inspection of home heating systems, gas appliances and auto exhaust systems is also recommended to eliminate the possibility of faulty mechanisms leading to carbon monoxide leaks.

Ann Landers

Only Your Stupidity Exceeded Gal's Gall

Dear Ann Landers: The letter from the woman who wrote about her sneaky husband prompts this, my first communication to a newspaper.

Several weeks ago my husband asked me if I would mind if a business associate from another city stayed in our home for a week "to save expenses."

I cannot describe my astonishment when I discovered that the "business associate" was a woman, and the only business they had tgether was monkey business.

For five days she sat around our house in her filmy negligee, filing her fingernails, smoking cigarets and reading trashy magazines. My husband took her to a "sales meeting" every night. They never got home before 3:00 a.m.

Finally I asked her what connection she had with my husband's firm and she told me she had no connection, but that she used their products once in a while. Then I asked what she was doing in town and she said she had always wanted to visit Cincinnati.

What do you think of this for gall?—ANONYMOUS PLEASE

Dear An: I think her gall is exceeded only by your stupidity. If it took you five days to ask a guest in your home what she was doing in town, you are pretty slow on the uptake, Lady.

Dear Ann Landers: I am a 17-year-old girl who wants to know how much loyalty a person owes a friend?

My closest girl friend (I will fake the name and call her Inez) asked me to spend Friday and Saturday night with her because her parents were going to the Cape for the weekend. My parents have always liked Inez and agreed that it would be O.K.

Friday evening we double dated. I went with a fellow I've been seeing a lot, but not steady and Inez dated a fellow she had just met three weeks ago. After the date (we went to a movie and then to eat) Inez asked both fellows to come in and listen to records. I didn't like the idea and told her that I was going to sleep and that my date had to say goodnight at the door.

Well, to make a long story short, Inez's boy friend stayed all night. When I discovered him there the next morning I told Inez I wasn't spending any more nights with her. We were not on good terms when I left.

My mother asked why I looked so unhappy when I got home and I told her Inez and I had had an argument. Mom accused me of being "hard to get along with" and suggested that I improve my disposition. If I had told Mom the truth Inez would have been in plenty of trouble. As it is I am the one who looks bad. How much loyalty do I owe her?—VICTIMIZED

Dear Vic: This is not a matter of loyalty, it's a matter of integrity. A person of good character does not rat fink, and you proved that you are a person of character. So—an orchid to you, Doll, and a bouquet of skunk cabbage to Inez.

Bobcat Shot

A 28-POUND BOBCAT, believed to be one of a pair running in Ford River Township, was shot about 1:30 a.m. Thursday by Jack Costell, owner of Jack & Angie's Restaurant on M-35 south of Escanaba. Costell said the animal was a female and he believes a larger male cat is also operating in the area. He said after the female was killed, a trap he had set in the area was sprung. Costell said the bobcats killed 13 rabbits, each 8-pound Belgian Giants, since Monday night and may have done away with a thriving raccoon population. "We had about 25 coons, but we haven't seen any since the cats came," he said. Costell brought down the bobcat out the back door of his restaurant, using light from the windows. (Daily Press Photo) stone in a two-hour, 15-minute operation on Oct. 8, 1965.

That surgery kept Johnson in Bethesda Naval Hospital for two weeks. And he spent the rest of the year recuperating at his LBJ Ranch in Texas.

Rest Recommended

Johnson's doctors said his wearying Asian-Pacific journey had aggravated his abdominal problem. Dr. Burkley said he had advised the President against making a tentatively planned political journey this weekend.

"I recommended that he have a period of rest of approximately two weeks beforehand," Burkley said. "I feel that indicates against a weekend trip."

Newsmen had assembled expecting a White House announcement that Johnson would journey coast-to-coast before election day on a 10-state vote hunting mission for Democratic candidates.

The first indication that Johnson would announce something himself came when news photographers were summoned to take pictures of the President sitting alone in the Cabinet room.

They got no explanation, coming or going.

Then newsmen were admitted, and Johnson made his statement.

By The Associated Press

A crippling snowstorm, which left a heavy blanket of white across broad areas in the eastern half of the nation, appeared tapering off today but cold weather persisted, even in the Deep South.

The first widespread major snowstorm of the season left as much as 15 inches of snow in parts of Kentucky and the snow fell southward as far as Birmingham, Ala.

Storm-related deaths, including five in a heavy rainstorm in New England, totaled at least 32 in six states. Most of the fatalities were in traffic accidents on snow-covered and icy highways but some deaths were caused by heart attacks while shoveling snow.

Snow squalls and high winds continued early today in the upper and eastern Great Lakes region. Heaviest snow was confined to a narrow belt along the southeastern shores of Lake Erie. In New York State up to seven inches of snow fell north of Buffalo.

Hubbard Makes War An Issue

DEARBORN (AP) — Mayor Orville L. Hubbard, who has seldom lost a political battle in 25 years as mayor of this Detroit suburb, has made the Viet Nam War an issue in the Nov. 8 general election.

Dearborn voters will become the first in the nation to be asked by ballot: "Are you in favor of an immediate cease fire and withdrawal of U. S. troops from Viet Nam so the Vietnamese people can settle their own problems?"

The vote, an advisory question, has no legal status, but it bears the unmistakable mark of Hubbard, who opposes U. S. involvement in Viet Nam.

"I think the war is illegal," Hubbard has said. "If I were a young fellow, I certainly wouldn't go to Viet Nam. I'd rather spend three years on a rock pile than to fight some poor little barefoot guys who have never done anything to us."

It has caused bitter debate, one law suit and moved The Detroit News to comment editorially:

"If the result (vote) is 'Yes,' Hanoi will know the infamous LBJ is leading Americans into a war they don't want. If 'No,' it demonstrates Americans are the Reds must hang on to save Viet Nam from the imperialists."

Chlorine Bleach Needs No Mixing; Can Be Dangerous

The Delta-Menominee District Health Department warns there is danger in mixing chlorine bleaches with certain agents. Several accidents have recently occured in the U. S. where a toilet bowl cleaner was used and then household bleach was added to the bowl cleaner to improve its action. The chlorine release caused death in one instance, reports Dr. Mary L. Cretens, director, Delta - Menominee District Health Department.

The acid producing substance in most toilet cleaning mixtures release the chlorine gas from regular chlorine bleaches. Likewise, when a chlorine bleach is mixed with ammonia, lye, or other strong alkaline substances, the action will liberate a highly irritating gas. Inhalation of this gas can cause injury or death. It is advised to follow carefully the directions on strong cleansing agents.

If one cleaner is good it does not follow two or more will do a better job. Sometimes mixing several agents makes them useless.

More people get more news from newspapers than from all other sources combined.

High Prices Campaign Issue, Say GOP Wives

By JANET MARTIN

The wives of two of Michigan's top officers in government and candidates for election on Nov. 8 are in Escanaba today on the campaign trail for their husbands.

Not seeming a bit harried from the inclement weather that was apparent throughout most of their week's trip, Mrs. Marjorie Griffin, wife of U.S. Senator Robert Griffin (R) and Mrs. Helen Milliken wife of Lieutenant Governor William Milliken (R) began another busy day of campaigning with an 8 a.m. breakfast at the House of Ludington.

Both ladies looking very charming and poised, Mrs. Milliken was wearing a lovely azure blue knit dress and Mrs. Griffin, stunning in a dusty pink knit suit, said they enjoyed campaigning very much, and although it can get a bit trying at times, all in all it is great fun and a wonderful experience.

The ladies began this swing tour on Monday in Detroit and continued to West Branch, Antrim County, Ionia County and Grand Rapids. From Grand Rapids they were to fly to the Soo, but do to complications the party drove to the Soo Wednesday and on to Marquette and Iron River. And in spite of the icy roads, snow and over all stormy conditions, the ladies arrived safely in Escanaba about midnight last night.

5,000 Miles

Although they weren't definitely sure how many miles they had traveled on this trip, their driver began the trip in Detroit Monday with a new car and when they arrived in Escanaba there was 5,000 miles registered on the speedometer. From Escanaba the ladies will go to Menominee.

Both ladies have been very active in their husbands' campaigns although Mrs. Milliken said she has not been quite as active in this campaign as Mrs. Griffin. Mrs. Griffin said, "We began right after Labor Day and have kept 6½ day schedules. The local Republicans in each of the towns visited usually plan our agenda which includes speaking at luncheons, coffees, school groups, visiting the news media, etc."

Spoke At College

Following breakfast this morning, the ladies visited Bay de Noc Community College where they talked to the students and faculty, stopped at the family relations conference at the Bonifas Auditorium and then went on to the Ruppe for Congress Headquarters where they met the public and enjoyed a coffee break.

In campaign talks here Mrs. Griffin urged Michigan housewives to bombard President Johnson with letters of protest about high food prices instead of picketing supermarkets.

"Let's tell him that we're tired of inflation eating away at our family food budgets," she said. "Let's demand that he stop the excessive government spending which is pushing up our cost of living at an alarming rate.

"Mr. Johnson's answer to all this is to blame the housewives and to tell them to buy cheaper cuts of meat," she said.

"He was extremely interested when the price of steel rose $2.50 a ton, but he has shown little concern about the price of bacon going up $500 a ton in the past 14 months.

"The Secretary of Agriculture, Orville Freeman, who was in Detroit last week to campaign for my husband's opponent, doesn't seem to be any more sympathetic to the housewive's dilemma than the President.

"I personally like to see women take part in public activities which concern them or their families, and when they do I think they should lay the blame for inflation at the right source, and that's President Johnson's Administration."

Mrs. Griffin said, "Our children, Paul, 16, Rick, 14, Jim, 11 and Jill, 5, are very interested in the campaign and wish they could be more a part of it. They realize the importance of it and really take it in stride."

Marjorie is a native of Ludington Mich., and met and married Bob Griffin while they were attending Central Michigan University in 1947. She taught Junior High School in Ann Arbor while her husband earned his Doctor of Laws degree and now as the wife of a U.S. Senator, she divides her time between Washington, D.C., and the family home in Traverse City.

Mrs. Milliken is the former Helen Wallbank of Denver and they also reside in Traverse City where the Lieutenant Governor has been recognized for many years as a civic leader and businessman. They are the parents of two children, Bill Jr. and Elaine, both attending college.

Carol A. Myers Wed To Edward Gouin Jr.

Immanuel Lutheran Church in Escanaba was the setting Saturday, Oct. 29 for the 6 p. m. wedding ceremony uniting in marriage, Miss Carol Alice Myers of Cornell and Edward E. Gouin Jr. of Escanaba.

Officiating at the double ring nuptials was the Rev. Erland E. Carlson.

Life Begins And Ends With A?

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP) — Life is a sentence that begins and ends with a question mark.

True education is impossible to anyone who lacks a questioning spirit.

But the smart fellow learns early that sometimes it isn't merely wisdom that you acquire by asking questions — you can also get a punch in the nose.

When in doubt, let the other fellow ask the question; then learn by the answer he gets.

But there are some questions that are bound to lead to nothing but trouble — and it is wiser never to bother asking them.

Such as:

"What makes you think that this gun isn't loaded?"

"So what if I didn't declare that two hundred bucks in my tax report. Are you going to make a federal case out of it?"

"Who yuh shoving, Mac?"

"Are you just going to stand there and let him talk like that to your very own wife?"

"Why don't you just put up — or shut up?"

"If something ever happened to me, would you consider marrying again?"

"Who's chicken?"

"Just how do you figure, Millicent, that two can live as cheap as one?"

"For Pete's sake, didn't your mother teach you how to cook?"

"Shall we start off by playing for a buck a hole?"

"Do you mean that if I just throw out the dice, and one comes up four and the other comes up three, that I get all the money on the table?"

"Well, just what is it about the new mathematics that has you puzzled, son?"

"Do you think money grows on trees?"

"Haven't we met before?"

"Are you looking for volunteers, captain?"

"Do you think if I turned the faucet one more time with the wrench, it would stop the dripping?"

"Shall I just sign the check, and let you fill in the exact amount later?"

"Do you want one for the road — or two?"

"Why did you ever marry me in the first place?"

"Can't anyone on your side of the family ever do anything right?"

"Haven't I already taken you out one night this month?"

"Is there anything else I can do for you, boss?"

Pheasant Hunt In Good Start

LANSING (AP) — Michigan's pheasant season is off to a good start, but hunters probably will take fewer birds than they did last year, reports the State Conservation Department's pheasant expert.

Vic Janson told the conservation commission at its informal meeting Thursday the kill this year will be 600,000 birds or less. He said last year's total was 684,000.

The commission also was told of a nationwide search now underway to find a chief for the conservation department's recreational services division.

The division, headed by a 15-member advisory committee, will collect information and prepare programs in the area of recreation.

CHEERY ONE-STORY: Coziness is the principal exterior visual attribute of this pleasant three-bedroom house, but the architect has emphasized open planning on the inside with a large "farm kitchen" and a long, combined living room-dining room arrangement.

Farm Kitchen Comfortable

By ANDY LANG

Nothing gave the old New England farmhouse more of an atmosphere of warmth and hospitality than its "Farm Kitchen," large and rustic and comfortable.

Architect Herman H. York has succeeded in placing such a kitchen in a three-bedroom, modest-sized house rather a rambling structure. True, the kitchen has modern touches, but its exposed beams and general character, including an area large enough for a full-size table, place it firmly into the farm kitchen category.

The kitchen has always been the control center for most family activities. In this layout it is especially so. Note how there is direct access from the kitchen to the front foyer—to the laundry—to the back yard —to the basement—to the living room—to the dining room —and to the bedroom wing. In short, when the homemaker is in the kitchen, she can exercise supervision over the entire house. And since the kitchen is 19' long, she can perform her chores without feeling hemmed in.

The dining room and living room flow into each other to create the feeling of spaciousness which so many families prize. There is an unbroken expanse of 28', permitting easy entertaining of a large number of guests at the same time.

In addition, sliding glass doors leading from the living room to the rear terrace enhance the open effect. Those families who want a clear definition between the rooms without destroying the vista can use a low, open and not-too-long divider. A fireplace at the end of the living room provides a desirable note of coziness.

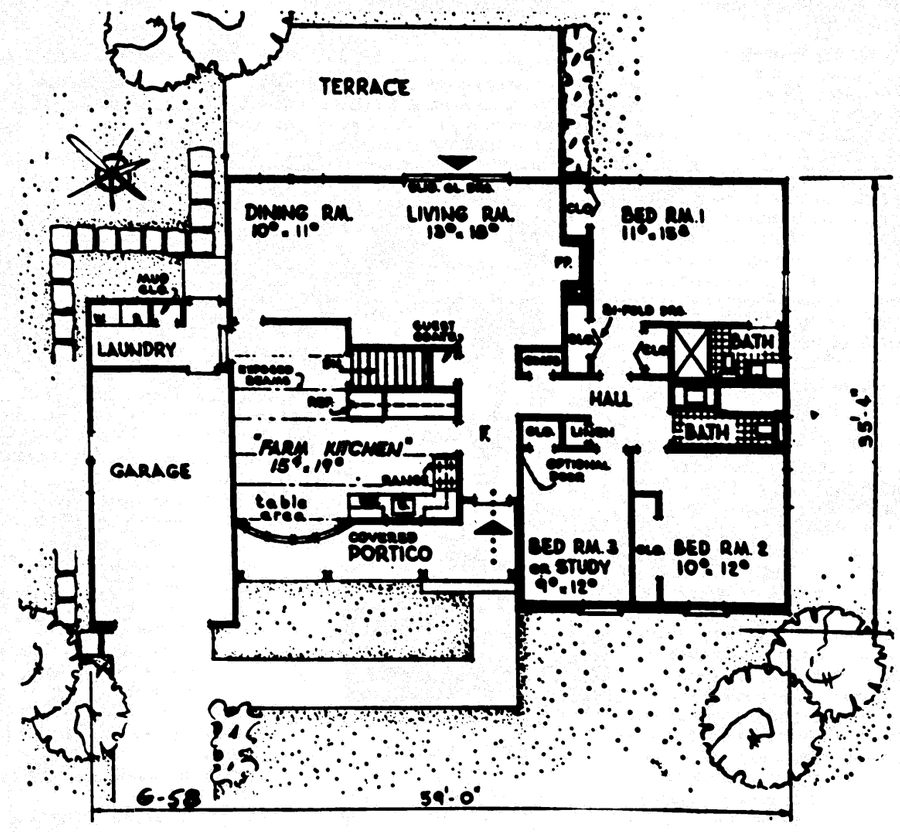
An optional door location is shown in bedroom No. 3. This door would lead from that bedroom to the foyer should the room be used, instead, as a study or den. A retirement couple conceivably might use such an arrangement, placing a studio couch in the den so that it could be turned into sleeping quarters for a guest.

The main bedroom has three separate closets and a sizable private bath with a stall shower. The other bath is of equal size and has a tub. Bedroom No. 2 has a very large closet and cross-ventilation.

There is a full basement under all of the house except the garage and laundry. On a plot which slopes down from the road, such a basement can be given extra daylight with large glass areas at the rear and a terrace at the lower level. A playroom and extra bedrooms can be located here.

The exterior has been carefully proportioned to keep the various elements in scale with the over-all picture. An example of this is the slenderness of the posts supporting the covered portico, in keeping with the details of a moderate-sized house. A light-colored ceiling on this portico helps to keep the kitchen gay and cheerful, since the bay window of that room extends into the porch area.

Brick is used for the entire front bedroom wall, harmonizing nicely with the vertical siding in the portico and the wood shingles on the rest of the house. A nice mixture of the old and the new.



FLOOR PLAN

FLOOR PLANS: Well-defined areas have been skillfully created by the architect, even though the habitable portion of the house totals only 1420 square feet; focal point is the large kitchen at the front; formal living is at the rear; the bedroom wing is at the right.

G-58 STATISTICS

Design G-58 has a living room, dining room, farm kitchen, laundry room, three bedrooms, two baths, one-car garage, covered front portico, rear terrace, foyer and a generous amount of closets. Habitable area totals 1420 square feet, not including the garage and laundry room. Overall dimensions are 59' by 35' 4".

Population Up

MIAMI, Fla. (AP — Cuba's population has increased by 1,200,000 since Fidel Castro took over in 1959, Havana radio says.

Some 500,000 Cubans have gone into exile during the period but Havana radio, monitored in Miami, reported Cuba has 7,800,000 inhabitants, according to a new census, as against 6,600,000 in 1959.

State To Keep 40% Of Federal Road Aid Fund

LANSING (AP) — The State Highway Department said that it plans to keep about 40 per cent of the $8,535,549 in federal funds for secondary road construction it anticipates in the next fiscal year.

The remaining $5,425,963 will be apportioned among the state's 83 counties according to land area, population and road mileage, the department said.

Each county must match the federal funds on a 50-50 basis, and the money can be used for construction purposes only.

Wayne County, at $670,695, received the largest single share, followed by Oakland County with $237,557, Kent with $147,428 and Genesee with $137,779.

Turkey Shoot Start Is Slow

LANSING (AP) — Michigan's 1966 turkey shoot is off to a slow, cold start, says the State Conservation Department.

As the first day of the nine-day special season neared its end Wednesday only 20 wild turkeys had been bagged, the department said.

Last year, when the first turkey season in modern Michigan history was held in Allegan County, hunters picked off 52 of the birds on opening day. This year, Allegan County hunters bagged only 10.

But, a department spokesman noted, the season started on a Saturday last year.

Nine birds were shot by a light turnout of hunters in the second of three turkey hunting areas, which includes portions of Lake, Newaygo, Mason and Oceana counties. One was reported downed on Beaver Island in northern Lake Michigan.

The department issued 400 permits for each of the two West Michigan areas and 100 for Beaver Island.

I 94 Opening Is Delayed By Cold

LANSING (AP) — Opening of the final section of I 94 in Macomb County has been delayed by snow and cold, reports the State Highway Department.

The seven-mile stretch of limited-access highway, originally to have been finished Nov. 10, is now scheduled to be opened to traffic Dec. 12.

The department also said a short section of the four-lane, one-way road carrying business routes I 94, U.S. 127 and M 50 through downtown Jackson will be opened to traffic next Monday.

And the department announced plans to start around the end of 1970 building a 4.3-mile stretch of M 99 between Hillsdale and Jonesville on a new location. Preliminary estimates indicate the project will cost $1.7 million.

Eight Candidates In College Trustee Race

Voters To Elect Four To Board

Three Bay de Noc Community College trustees will be elected for terms of six years and one will be elected for four years to complete an unexpired term in the election to be held on Tuesday, Nov. 8.

The election is being held in Delta County at the same time as the Michigan general election, but the voting for college trustees is on a separate non-partisan ballot.

Candidates for the six-year term are Carl J. Ahlin of Bark River; Dr. Donald W. Alimenti, Arol E. Beck, George C. Eastin Jr. of Escanaba; Robert Groos of Groos; Ray LaPorte of Escanaba; and Arthur T. Pope of Gladstone.

Arthur Slaughter of Escanaba is unopposed for the unexpired four-year term. Slaughter is now on the Bay de Noc College Board, appointed to fill a vacancy caused by the resignation of Dr. Albert Janke, who moved to California from Escanaba.

Bay de Noc College trustees serve without salary or monetary compensation.

The hold-over trustees of the College are Joseph L. Heirman, chairman of the board; Charles Follo and Clayton Ford.

The four who will be elected to the board in Tuesday's voting will take office on Jan. 1. The retiring trustees who did not seek reelection are James Dotsch of Garden and Hagle Quarnstrom of Gladstone.

The eight trustee candidates in alphabetical order:

CARL J. AHLIN, BARK RIVER

Born Jan. 28, 1913, in Bark River, the son of the late August Ahlin. His mother, Hulda, resides at 404 Wisconsin Ave., Gladstone.

He graduated from the Escanaba High School in 1931 and in Practical Business Administration from the American Technical School in 1933. He took a course in school law at Northern Michigan University in 1961 and enrolls in extension courses from time to time.

Carl J. Ahlin

An employe of the U:S. Post Office Dept., Mobile transportation Service since 1937, he was twice the recipient of commendation for outstanding service and accomplishment.

He is a member of the Bark River Methodist Church, its lay leader since 1962, certified lay preacher since 1963, and is listed in the current "Who's Who in the Methodist Church." He taught chorus (no salary) in the Bark River-Harris Schools 1960, '61 and '62.

Actively interested in school affairs, he is president of the Bark River-Harris Board of Education and is a member of the Delta Schoolcraft Intermediate School Board.

His membership in organizations includes the Bark River Lions (past president and now secretary); president of the Northern Peninsula Branch of the Postal Transportation Clerks; Union Steward in the Mobile Section of the Chicago Region of the U. S. Postal Service; and the Bay de Noc Chapter of Barber Shop Singers.

His wife is the former Catherine A. Lima, a teacher, of Lake Bluff, Ill., and they have three children: Carol Jean attending Wisconsin State University at LaCrosse; Gary at Peru State College, Peru, Neb.; and Erick, Junior in the Bark River-Harris High School.

"I believe that higher education should be equally available to all people," Ahlin said. "I believe that facilities, methods of teaching, techiques, and so forth, must keep pace with the technical, political and social progress. I believe that a well educated person can better adjust socially and is more civic minded; and is better equipped to serve himself, his family and his community."

"We are comig into an era of shorter work week and greater leisure. Higher education must play an ever greater role in preparing people not only to enjoy such leisure but to contribute more fully to the welfare of the community."

Dr. Donald W. Alimenti

A graduate of Iron Mountain High School, he served in the U. S. Army, 1954-56, graduated from Northern Michigan University with a degree in secondary science education in 1960, and received the Doctor of Veterinary Medicine Degree in 1965 from Michigan State University. He is 32 years old.

He served as director for the Junior Hockey Program for the City of Marquette, 1956-58; was a Family Service case worker for the American Red Cross for four years; and was the MSU representative to the National Veterinary Career Convention in 1964.

A veterinarian at the Delta Animal Hospital, he is a member of the Upper Peninsula Veterinary Medical Association and Michigan Veterinary Medical Association; and is a member of St. Joseph Church.

He is an appointed member of the Bay de Noc Community College Liaison Committee.

His wife is the former Theresa Linder of Nadeau, who is a graduate of NMU with a BS degree in elementary education, they have four children, and reside at 1230 Lake Shore Drive.

"It is my considered opinion that in a democratic society we have an obligation to educate our young people to become effective citizens," Dr. Alimanti said.

"We should provide the finances and direction so they can contribute to society intellectually, thus mankind benefits from their progress in the fine arts and the sciences.

"They should be educated to contribute with responsibility by their acceptance and observation of fundamental democratic principles. Equally important is their tolerance for the rights and opinions of others.

"Our young people should be educated to contribute to society economically to the limits of their creative and productive skills. For those less fortunate who are overwhelmed by poverty, insecurity and lack of equal educational opportunity, our leaders of tomorrow must provide the means and the methods to alleviate this shameful situation.

Dr. D. W. Alimenti

"In the final analysis I believe we need vocationally or academically educated young citizens with logical and flexible minds capable of looking to the future with purpose, confidence and dedication."

AROL E. BECK

A native of Escanaba, the son of Frank Beck, retired merchant and the late Mrs. Beck, he graduated from Escanaba High School and later attended the University of Michigan and the Chicago Conservatory of Music.

He taught instrumental music in the public schools at Birmingham, Ala., for seven years.

Later he was associated for several years with the Civil Aeronautics Administration at Atlanta, Memphis and Albuquerque.

He returned to Escanaba in 1953 and established the Western Auto Associates Store which he continues to operate.

Beck served on the Escanaba Area Public Schools Board of Education for eight years, and was its president and held other Board offices. His tenure was marked by eventful years in school affairs that included annexation of three townships to the Area district and the construction of the Area High School.

Arol E. Beck

Actively interested in civic affairs he is a member of the Kiwanis Club and the Masonic Lodge; and is affiliated with musical and cultural organizations including the String Ensemble and the Community Concert Association.

Mrs. Beck is the former Dudley Bell of Birmingham, Ala. They have two daughters and the family resides at 908 7th Ave. S.

Replying to the question on values and principles of higher education, Beck said:

"I suppose the question relates to Bay de Noc Community College, and I would think that it would want to offer a type of education tailored as much as possible to the individual needs of the students.

"It should also, I think, be an educational program available to as many as possible, and of as good a quality as possible.

"The values of higher education would, to my way of thinking, include the value of enrichment to the individual; and the individual extending this enrichment to his fellowmen.

"There are the monetary values of education, of course, and studies have proven that higher education brings greater earning power.

"But above all is the conviction that as man gains knowledge, the hope for humanity increases."

GEORGE C. EASTIN JR.

Born in Brownstown, Ind., 45 years ago, he is married to the former Betty M. Harris of Seymour, Ind., a graduate of Purdue University majoring in chemical engineering, he served two and a half years in the Pacific during World War II aboard destroyers as engineering officer.

Eastin joined the Mead Corp. in April, 1946 at Kingsport, Tenn, and spent four and half years in the Technical Service Department. In November, 1950, he was recalled to destroyer duty for two years as result of the Korean conflict.

He joined the Mead Corp.—Escanaba Division in November, 1952, where his present title is production manager and technical director.

The Eastins, who reside at 808 South 13th Street, have six children ranging in age from two to 21 yrs. Two are in college; the eldest daughter a senior at Wisconsin and the next a freshman at Bay de Noc Community College.

George C. Eastin Jr.

High interest in community and school affairs is expressed by Eastin, who is a member of the Chamber of Commerce and past president of the Kiwanis Club.

Replying to the question "What do you consider to be the most important principles and values of higher education?" Eastin said:

"Briefly, the first principle of higher education must be an availability to those who want it. In this respect, the community college is a REAL asset. It provides availability.

Secondly, high school graduates must be impressed with the need for higher education. The stimulus must be provided earlier in life and is a parental responsibility. The needs for the future, in terms of young people adequately prepared to face the changing world of social and business philosophy today, should not be under estimated.

"One critical need in the world today is for people to learn to work effectively together.

"Providing the best available facilities to serve the needs of the region is the prime responsibility of a community college. The values of higher education are fairly straight forward. First of all, there is a satisfaction in learning more about your own choice of a given course of study. Secondly, the business world of today is demanding continued education as a prime requisite for many jobs. For this effort, there is compensation."

ROBERT F. GROOS

A life long resident of Michigan's Upper Peninsula, his schooling was completed through high school in Delta County. During World War II he served four years on combat ships operating in the Pacific Theater.

After the war he completed Bachelor of Science degree requirements in Mechanical Engineering at the Michigan Technological University and accepted employment as a mechanical engineer with the Mead Corp., Chillicothe, Ohio plant, until returning to Mead's Escanaba Division in April 1949.

Robert Groos

His wife is the former Mary Koebel of Chillicothe. The family resides at Groos. There is a son and five daughters. Mary has her Bachelor of Science degree in Education and is presently teaching in an elementary school in Escanaba.

In 1954 and 1958 Groos participated in area school studies to determine what could and should be done to improve education for the suburban and for the rural children who lived in the various townships around Escanaba. In 1958 he was elected to the Board of Education in Escanaba Township for a three year term and is now serving his third consecutive term with that body.

"During these past years Mary and I actively promoted a 4-H program in Flat Rock. We have also directed the participation of Flat Rock in the Gladstone student loan fund drives," he said.

He served as a member of the finance section and as a member of the legal section in the Delta County College Study that was conducted in 1961-62 to promote the establishment of Bay de Noc Community College. When the college was established in 1962, he was elected to its original Board of Trustees for an interim term. In 1963, he was reelected to the present term as a trustee of the community college.

"It is my considered opinion that education is a right, not a privilege. Our most important national resource is an enlightened citizenry, young minds educated to confidently look forward to the future. Each and every individual is entitled to the full benefits of an education limited only by his personal capacity and motivation.

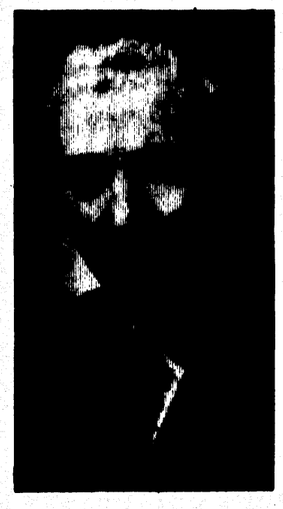
"It is the significant responsibility of the College Board of Trustees to assure that an equal educational opportunity is denied no Delta County resident for reasons of privilege. Students must acquire the educational means to improve themselves so that they may become contributors to the society in which they will live and most assuredly lead. Any improvement in the general standard of living in our Upper Peninsula is directly proportional to the number of young citizens we can educate and retain in our county and in our society," Groos said.

"Students today and future students have an obligation to exercise their right to an education. No student of any age has the right to remain uneducated and a possible non-productive member of the County and the society in which he must live."

RAY LaPORTE

Born in Escanaba on June 29, 1914, he attended Escanaba High School. The family resides at 716 S. 17th St., Escanaba.

The LaPortes have three children, Mary and Nancy, who are attending Michigan State University, and John, a senior at Holy Name High School.



Ray LaPorte

LaPorte was employed as manager of the Jacobson Manufacturing Co. in Escanaba for seven years; and for 13 years was secretary-manager of the Upper Peninsula State Fair.

Currently he is employed as Menominee - Delta - Schoolcraft Community Action Agency director.

The Agency is a private nonprofit corporation engaged in the War on Poverty and renders assistance when requested to communities having special problems requiring Federal assistance.

In reply to the question "what do you consider to be the most important principles and values of high education?" LaPorte said:

"The most important principles and values of higher education are to prepare people for their particular place in our complex society. A greater percentage of our population must be educated today if we are to fit them into our society with satisfying employment.

"Today, a high school education is not enough. We must offer more training to our young people for their future employment.

"This does not mean a college degree is necesary for all high school graduates. We can, and should, have a good vocational training program to prepare young people who will still make their living with their hands. We have a great need for trained technicians, who can work with college degree people in carrying out special skills.

"The third area of higher education, of course, is the college degree program.

"All three areas mentioned are equal in importance in meeting today's educational needs. We should all work for a well - rounded vocational, technical and degree program, to fulfill the philosophy of a community college."

ARTHUR E. SLAUGHTER

Born in Bangor, Mich., March 13, 1920, he graduated from high school there in 1938 and served in the Army Air Force from 1942 to 1945.

He received a Bachelor of Science degree in Geology in 1949 and the Master of Science in Geology in 1950 and was elected to Sigma Xi, National Science honorary fraternity.

Beginning in 1950 he was employed as a geologist with the Geological Survey Division, Department of Conservation at Lansing, and in 1954 was placed in charge of the new office of the Geological Survey in Escanaba, which serves the Upper Peninsula.

He is a member of the Board of Trustees of the Bay de Noc Community College (and Board treasurer) from 1962 to the present; and is chairman of the Committee and member of the Action Committee.

His membership includes the American Water Works Association, American Geological Institute, Bay de Noc Engineers Club, Michigan Basin Geological Society, Lake Superior Institute of Geology, Escanaba Rotary Club and the Escanaba Country Club.

His wife is the former Jean Hopkins of Flint, also a geologist, and they have three children: Bruce 12, Steven 10 and Elaine 9. They reside at 1111 S. 16th St.

"An institution of higher education, such as Bay de Noc, has many purposes, among which are (1) providing a liberal arts and pre-professional courses for students in baccalaureate programs; (2) providing technical or vocational training programs leading directly to employment; (3) providing general education programs designed for individual improvement available to all citizens; (4) providing counseling service to assist individuals to fit into our complex society; and (5) to contribute to the cultural and economic development of the community," said Slaughter.

Arthur Slaughter

"Through these objectives or obligations, the principles of higher education evolve. Colleges do not exist alone for the purpose of producing marketable skills although today's world is continually applying this kind of pressure on our institutions. Neither do they exist alone for scholarly initiative. They exist for both."

"Knowledge which an institution may provide is not an end in itself, but rather a means to stimulation of imagination and illumination of experiences. It is a means to understanding and independent thinking. The result is individual fulfillment, a value which can be measured only by the recipient, and which results in a continued growth of society for the betterment of all," he concluded.

ARTHUR T. POPE

Arthur Pope, 1204 Lake Shore Drive, Gladstone, was born in Philadelphia and raised in Lake Forest, Ill. He graduated from the University of Illinois with a B.S. degree in engineering.

He was an engineer with the Torrington Co. before starting his own business, Transit Products, Inc., in Prairie View, Ill. This company manufactured heat exchangers for cooling bus transmissions. He was associated for a year with American Timber Homes in Escanaba and has now started Pope Mfg. Co. in Gladstone.

At the Gladstone plant he manufactures collapsible lead baskets for wheelbarrows, which are sold nationally as "Barrow-Baskets".

He served with the United States Army from 1943 to 1946 and was recalled to active duty during the Korean War. He is now a Lieutenant Colonel in the Corps of Engineers, U.S. Army Reserve.

Married to the former Marjorie Lawless of Evanston, Ill., the Popes have two children, David, who is in his final year at the U.S. Naval Academy, Annapolis, Md., and Anne, who graduated from Gladstone High School and is now a sophomore at Wellesley College, Wellesley, Mass.

Art is an outdoor sports enthusiast, especially interested in sailing and flying. He is a member of the Gladstone Rotary Club.

"The mental discipline, training, and vicarious experience afforded by higher education enables students to view the world, their communities, and their careers with much greater perspective, and to form much broader and more informed judgments about same," Pope said.

"Higher education will open doors to a larger world than their personal experience can ever encompass. They will be better citizens for making and influencing the great decisions, as well as the routines in their future.

"Character, another essential to honest decisions and judgments, is probably already formed by family, friends, early schooling, and church, but it cannot but be guided by higher education with its exposure to great ideas and wider horizons.

"Students will be more able, through greater learning and earning power, to do more for their children and their community in the years ahead," he said.

Stephenson's decision to drop out of the Great Northern Conference at the close of the current school year puts Escanaba High School in a bad way, football-wise . . . It means that Escanaba will have to start searching for another opponent for next season . . . If past experience is any indication, there will be no takers . . . Because of lack of foes in Upper Peninsula circles, the Eskymos already are forced to play such unlikely opponents as Antigo, Alpena and Canadian Soo . . . Such opponents do absolutely nothing for the Eskymo athletic program.

★ ★ ★

Stephenson's desire to get into a conference with schools of its own class is understandable . . . The Eagles, with an enrollment of 437 students, obviously can't compete with Great Northern teams in football . . . As Principal Edmer Lacasse pointed out, in requesting the Great Northern to allow Stephenson to drop out of the loop, the Eagles are simply no match for the other schools in football . . . Not only do they lose games at an alarming rate, but the very program is in danger of folding if the Eagles do not get some relief.

★ ★ ★

The proposed new conference that is being discussed for the medium sized schools in the central portion of the Upper Peninsula seems like a good solution to numerous problems . . . The schools being considered for membership in the loop are Stephenson, Gladstone, Gwinn, Norway, Bishop Baraga and Crystal Falls . . . They are all about the same size, ranging in enrollment from Gladstone's 501 students to Norway's 380 . . . Travel distances do not appear to be too great for any of the schools.

Iron Mountain dominated the Menominee Range all-conference football team selected by coaches at their annual fall meeting in Norway this week . . . Five Mountaineers named to the first team were quarterback Rudy Steiner, halfback Steve Reiten, end Al Schupp, guard George Bennett and center Greg Roderick . . . Guard Dave Beaster of Kingsford was the only first team repeater from last year.

Maple, Wis., has been admitted to football membership in the Michigan-Wisconsin Conference and will be eligible to compete for the league grid crown next fall . . . The Wisconsin school played football for the first time this fall and will install lights by next season . . . The Tigers will face all other eams in the M-W league except Wakefield next year.

Houghton, Copper Country Conference champion, led in the all-conference selections announced this week . . . Four Gremlins making the first team were quarterback Jerry LaJeunesse, halfback Gary Frans, tackle Dan Hackmeier and guard Mark Shebuski.

NBA Reveals Expansion Plan For 16 Teams

PITTSBURGH (AP) — The National Basketball Association has charted a course of ambitious expansion, leading to an eventual 16-team league by 1974.

The plan was unveiled in Pittsburgh Thursday by Commissioner Walter Kennedy, who indicated that Pittsburgh and Cleveland are two of the leading contenders for the next two franchises.

He said the 10-team NBA wants to add two cities to its roster in 1968-69 and four more soon after but by any means no later than 1974.

Six NBA games are being played in Pittsburgh this season as a test of fan sentiment and Kennedy was here to attend the first of them between the Philadelphia 76ers and the St. Louis Hawks.

A crowd of 6,924 turned out, not quite the SRO plus 3,000-turnaway that greeted a game between the same two clubs here last Feb. 15, but still not bad for early in the season.

Kennedy said that he and Ben Kerner, owner of the Hawks and chairman of the league's expansion committee, planned to visit Cleveland next week and would report to the other owners at the league's meeting Nov. 21 in New York.

He said that four other cities were high in the running — Seattle, San Diego, Phoenix and Atlanta — but did not say when league officials would visit them, nor did he set a definite date for awarding the franchises. But Kennedy did say he expected the next two cities to be named sometime around next summer.

500 Snow Shovels Clear Spartan Football Arena

By The Associated Press

Now that Michigan State has used 500 shovels to dig Spartan Stadium out of the snow, Pitt and Iowa might like to use them to dig out of the mess they're headed for.

Hapless Pitt is headed for Notre Dame, the nation's top-ranked college football team, Saturday while almost-as-hapless Iowa plows into the snowbound Spartans, the No. 2 team.

Before the unbeaten Spartans could go after their eighth victory, though, about a foot of snow had to be cleared from the field.

School officials gathered some 500 shovels, then called for volunteers from the student body to use them and help clear the snow away. The students started shoveling Thursday afternoon and worked through the night to get the field ready for the game.

Officials estimated that the snow removal job could cost $35,000.

A loss for either the Irish or the Spartans would be more expensive — from a prestige point of view — but their opponents aren't expected to inflict such damage.

Irish Serious

No matter what Jim Lynch says. Lynch is a rugged Notre Dame linebacker and he was saying Thursday how the Irish weren't taking the Panthers lightly even though the Irish won last year's contest 69-13.

"Our players are taking Pittsburgh seriously," Lynch said.

In winning one game and losing six, the Panthers have been outscored on the average of 29-10.

At the same time the Irish, 6-0, have scored less than 30 points in only one game while posting three shutouts and limiting their opponents to a total of 28 points.

Iowa is in about the same amount of trouble. The Hawkeyes, 2-5, have been blanked three times while the Spartans have outscored their opponents 27-9.

Six other teams also will be out to continue their unbeaten streaks.

UCLA, ranked No. 3, visits Washington, fourth-ranked Alabama takes on Louisiana State at Birmingham, No. 5 Georgia Tech hosts Virginia, sixth-ranked Nebraska is at Kansas, Florida, No. 7, battles Georgia at Jacksonville and unranked Harvard is at Princeton.

Florida-Georgia Clash

The Florida-Georgia battle could be the most interesting. Those two teams, along with Alabama, are tied for first place in the Southeastern Conference with 4-0 records.

Georgia's major problem, of course, is stopping Steve Spurrier, who wins games in the final minutes with his passing and his kicking.

Other games include Syracuse at Penn State, George Washington at Army, Duke at Navy, Illinois at Michigan, Purdue at Wisconsin, Indiana at Ohio State, Miami, Fla., at Tulane, Vanderbilt at Kentucky, Maryland at North Carolina State, Minnesota at Northwestern and North Carolina at Clemson.

Also on the schedule are Texas at Baylor, Tulsa at Houston, Colorado at Missouri, Kansas State at Oklahoma, Texas A&M at Southern Methodist, Wyoming at Wichita State, Air Force at Stanford, Rice and Arkansas at Little Rock, California at Southern California and Chattanooga at Tennessee.

MICHIGAN STATE sent a lineup of snow shovelers into Spartan Stadium Thursday to clear the way for Saturday's MSU-Iowa football game. About a foot of snow covered the tarpaulin on the playing field. (AP Wirephoto)

Red Wings Hit, Rally For 2-2 Tie With Leafs

DETROIT (AP)—The Detroit Red Wings now boast an unbeaten string of three games after a National Hockey League battle that had "a lot of body in it."

"They were hitting out there," Manager - Coach Sid Abel of the Wings said after Detroit tied Toronto 2-2 Thursday night "There was a lot of body in that game."

Murray Hall jammed in a goal late in the third period to lift the Wings into the tie after Toronto had scored twice early in the final stanza.

New York clouted Boston 7-1 in the only other NHL game. Six Rangers got into the act, with Harry Howell scoring twice. Ron Shock got the only Boston goal.

The night's activity left New York, Detroit and Boston all tied for fourth place five points each.

Floyd Smith scored in the second period for Detroit on a power play, lifting the puck over the fallen Bruce Gamble from just outside the crease. Paul Henderson had fired, Norm Ullman poked at the rebound and Smith scored.

But early in the final period, Ron Ellis and Eddie Shack put Toronto ahead 2-1. Ellis took a pass from Red Kelly and popped the shot over Roger Crozier from right in front of the net.

Shack made it 2-1 less than two minutes later as Kelly took the puck in and passed to Shack, who hit the goal post as Crozier went down, then flipped the rebound over the goalie.

Hall tied it from close in at 13:22 and neither side could score again.

Defense Helps Knicks Triumph

NEW YORK (AP) — Dick Van Arsdale held Rick Barry to two points — if you don't count his concession — and in so doing enabled the New York Knickerbockers to beat the San Francisco Warriors.

"You concede him 30 points and try to keep him from getting 50 or 60," Van Arsdale said Thursday night after spending most of a National Basketball Association game guarding Barry.

Barry, the NBA's Rookie of the Year last season and the current scoring leader, scored 32 points but was limited by Van Arsdale to just one in the third period when the Knicks outscored the Warriors 36-19 en route to a 123-108 victory.

The 6-foot-5 Van Arsdale, who draws the assignment of guarding the opposition's top-scoring forward, also finds time to play offense. He scored 25 points and had four assists.

In other NBA action, Boston beat Chicago 137-108 before the Knicks-Warriors game at Madison Square Garden, and Philadelphia topped St. Louis 120-108 in Pittsburgh.

Wilt Chamberlain scored only 14 points but grabbed 24 rebounds and blocked several shots as Philadelphia won its 17th straight regular season game and tied an NBA record. The first 11 victories in the string came at the end of last season.

Chet Walker made up for Chamberlain's lack of scoring by getting 36. Zelmo Beatty netted 32 for St. Louis.

Led by Larry Siegfried, Boston outscored Chicago 18-8 in the late stages of the first quarter for a 35-23 lead and the start of a rout.

Bailey Howell led Boston with 21 points. Guy Rodgers scored 16 for Chicago.

Hawkins Files Suit On NBA

PITTSBURGH (AP) — Charging a conspiracy by the National Basketball Association, former New York City high school star Connie Hawkins has filed a $6-million suit against the NBA and its commissioner, Walter Kennedy.

Hawkins, through his attorney, David Litman, claims the NBA organized a boycott to keep him from playing professional basketball. He dropped out of the University of Iowa after a half year in 1961 and played with the Pittsburgh Rens in the defunct American Basketball League and the Harlem Globetrotters.

Litman claims the NBA blackballed Hawkins.

The papers were served Thursday in Pittsburgh, where Kennedy was attending a league game between the Philadelphia 76ers and St. Louis Hawks. The suit was filed in U.S. District Court here.

Clay In Houston For Title Fight

HOUSTON (AP) — Heavyweight champion Cassius Clay was arriving today, 10 days before he defends his title against Houston's Cleveland Williams in the first boxing match in the famed Astrodome.

Williams, training at his manager's ranch 125 miles southwest of here, is expected next Friday.

Packers Pick Sunday To Squelch Tarkenton

By JACK HAND

NEW YORK (AP) — Francis Tarkenton and his Minnesota scramblers will take a shot at the Green Bay Packers Sunday and the Vikings' quarterback, who seems to make up plays as he goes along, probably will give Vinnie Lombardi a few gray hairs.

The Vikings' unorthodox style usually troubles the Packers, who scorn the hipper dipper for the old bread and butter style. However, the Packers hold a 9-1 edge over Minnesota in their club series.

St. Louis, Dallas and Cleveland appear to have clear sailing ahead in the NFL and that San Diego-Kansas City game should help clear up the confusion in the AFL's West.

The picks for this Sunday's pro games:

NFL

Cleveland 31, Pittsburgh 14- Browns have won four straight and Bill Austin's Steelers have dropped five in a row, including 41-10 drubbing by Cleveland Oct. 8.

Dallas 35, Philadelphia 13- Wolves snapping at Eagles despite 4-4 record. Cowboys lead league in scoring and are second in defense with Mel Renfro back at safety.

Los Angeles 23, San Francisco 17- This will be rugged. The 49ers put Bill Munson out for the season in this game last year. Rams won first meeting 34-3 on four interceptions and fumble but have lost three straight.

Green Bay 27, Minnesota 17- Tarkenton will scramble, but the Packers will pin him down. With a bye next week, Green Bay can go all out and that means trouble.

Baltimore 27, Washington 20- Colts never take Skins lightly, not with that neighborhood feud. Baltimore has won last six since 1959 and still hopes to catch Green Bay in that big Dec. 10 game.

Chicago 14, Detroit 7- Afraid of this one. Lions are desperate with fans singing "Good Bye Harry" and players in bitter mood. Bears had tough game Monday night in St. Louis and could be used up physically.

St. Louis 24, New York 12- For some strange reason Giants always give Cards fits. They even did it this year before losing Oct. 9 game 24-19. Unless Cards are looking ahead too far they should have no trouble with battered Giants, even after their one-week holiday.

Atlanta has the bye.

AFL

Boston 20, Denver 10- Denver's defense is stopping nobody. Jim Nance should romp again. Pats took Eastern lead last week and they're not going to give it up.

Buffalo 30, Miami 7- Bills rolled it up in first game against Dolphins, 58-24, and have too much class to stumble here.

Kansas City 28, San Diego 17- Chiefs either win big or fall on their faces. Chargers, in and outers this year, had to scramble to get past Denver.

Oakland 21, Houston 17- Why? We saw Houston on TV last week. Raiders on the move, despite 24-21 loss in Boston, and eager to make up for 31-0 beatinb by Houston in early season.

New York has the bye.

Bears' Speedster Concern To Lions

DETROIT (AP)—The Detroit Lions worked out in a snowstorm but the speed of Chicago's Gale Sayers was on the coach's mind.

"Sayers is getting tougher and tougher," Lion Coach Harry Gilmer said Thursday. He's more inclined than ever to hit with reckless abandon and he never quits. With his speed, if he gets outside or gets any room at all he'll get away.

"We contained him pretty well the last time, though," Gilmer added.

Sayers has 506 yards on 112 tries with four touchdowns. The Bear speedster scored on a pass against St. Louis Monday night after it appeared he was hemmed in by four Cardinal players.

Hampered By Snow

Detroit's preparations for the National Football League game in Chicago were hampered by a hard snowstorm this week.

"It's easier to play in a snowstorm than it is to practice in one," Gilmer said as the players trotted off the field in a flurry of snowballs. "The snow kind of cuts down on your ability to concentrate, to get in a real good practice."

Gilmer praised his fullback, Tom Nowatzke, for his progress. "He's more sure of himself and running quicker," Gilmer said.

"He's got real good hands and we probably throw at him more than at any other fullback in the league," Gilmer added.

Nowatzke has 361 yards in 86 tries for a 3.8 average.

He's been troubled by fumbles but "Tom's really not a fumbler," Gilmer said. "He's run into a little siege of them, but part of it is due to his determination. He runs so hard and pulls so hard with his arms he sometimes gets hit when he's got the ball out away from his body.

Losing Streak

"He'll get to where at the time he's going to get hit he'll pull it in," Gilmer added.

The Lions are on a five-game losing streak and one of their best chances to break it is the passing combination of Karl Sweetan to Pat Studstill.

Studstill has caught 37 this year for 888 yards, far and away the best in the league, and has a chance at the NFL record of 1,495 set by Elroy Hirsch of Los Angeles in 1951.

News 'N Notes On NFL Action

DON'T BE MISLED by that 1½-game lead the Green Bay Packers have in the National Football League's Western Conference race . . . A check of the pennant races for the last 15 years shows that 11 times the Western race has gone down to the final Sunday and three of those times it has gone even beyond—to a playoff . . . In the Eastern Conference, where four teams are very much in contention, the race has gone to the last Sunday six times since e1951 but three times in the last five years . . . Since the 14-game season began in 1961, the Western champion has been determined once in the 11th game (Baltimore in '64), once in the 13th game (Green Bay in '61), twice in the 14th game (Green Bay in '62 and Chicago in '63), and once in a playoff (Green Bay in '65 over Baltimore in sudden death). Over the same period, the Eastern champion has clinched on the 11th weekend once (Cleveland last year), once on the 12th Sunday (New York in '62), and three times on the final Sunday (New York in '61 and '63, and Cleveland in '64).

★ ★ ★

FOR THE RECORD . . . The pass on which Baltimore's John Unitas became the all-time leader in passing yardage in the NFL, ayainst the Rams last Sunday, was the 3,498th he had attempted and the 1,917th he had completed in his 11-year professional career . . . Unitas ended the Los Angeles game with 1,919 passes completed of 3,500 attempted for 28,375 yards —36 yards abope the former mark of 28,339 set by Y. A. Tittle in a 15-year career with Baltimore, San Francisco and New York . . . Tittle's mark came on 2,118 completions . . . It was fitting that the record-breaker should come on a 31-yard catch by wide end Raymond Berry, the alltime NFL leader for passes caught with 589 and in yards receiving passes with 8,687 . . . "I had no idea I was close to the record," said Unitas, but Berry wasn't surprised . . . "Maybe John didn't know but I did," said Berry, who made a lunging, finger-tip catch of the historic pass on a first and 10 situation from the Baltimore 20 on the last play of the third quarter. "It gave me a terrific thrill."

★ ★ ★

"YOU'VE GOT TO THINK OF HIM as a first-stringer," says Green Bay Coach Vince Lombardi of Elijah Pitts, who had the top rushing day of his six-year career as a back-up halfback when he gained 99 yards in 21 carries (and scored 3 TDs) against the Lions last week. "He can be countede on to give you a top game eny time he's needed." . . . Pitts' best previous day was 77 yards on 15 carries against St. Louis on Oct. 20, 1963.

Brothers On Opposing Sides In Grid Battle

LANSING (AP) — If Sexton High School fullback Bob Chouinard runs a sweep Saturday, he may run right smack into his brother, Marty, a defensive end for Eastern High School.

And if Clark scores a touchdown in that same Lansing game, you may have to look at your program twice. It could be end Pat Clark of Eastern or is brother John, a Sexton back.

Not only may brotherly love disappear, but the parents are having problems too.

"Our house is pretty much in a turmoil this week," said Leonard Chouinard, father of Bob and Marty. "They're all wondering who we are going to root for. I don't know what side of the field I'll sit on. Maybe we'll switch at half time."

Both families moved recently and in each case, only one brother switched schools. John Clark moved from Eastern to Sexton and Marty Chouinard, a sophomore, wound up at Eastern while Bob stayed at Sexton.

"We know what our opponents will be like anyway," said Chouinard — Bob Chouinard, that is.

Michigan Tech Abandons Game

By The Associated Press

The last game remaining in the MIAA this weekend determines whether Olivet gets a share of the championship.

Adrian is at Albion and if Adrian wins, Albion and Olivet finish with identical 3-2 records. If Albion wins, it gets the title alone with a 4-1 record.

One game was cancelled because of weather, cutting the list to 14 games involving Michigan teams this weekend.

Illinois plays at Michigan, Iowa is at Michigan State and Ohio University is at Western Michigan.

NMU To Play

Northern Michigan plays host to Southern Illinois, Indiana Central tries Olivet, Case Tech is at Wayne State, Eastern Michigan plays Ohio Northern, Central Michigan is at Eastern Illinois.

Hillsdale plays Bradley, Northwood is at Ashland, Ohio, Hope tries Bluffton, Alma is at Wheaton and Kalamazoo at Earlham.

The Ferris game at Michigan Tech was cancelled because of a heavy blanket of snow on the field.

Central Michigan will be out to capture the IIAC football crown against Eastern Illinois. The Chips have won three straight, including two conference games. If Central Michigan wins it will gain its fifth outright football title in IIAC play and its first since 1962.

Wayne State, which lost to Eastern Michigan last week, has named quarterback A.J. Vaughn as a cocaptain for the Case Tech match. Vaughn passed and ran for 82 yards against the Hurons last week. Both teams are 1-4.

Hillsdale Hurting

Hillsdale is worrying about injuries to cocaptain Larry Fowler, defensive tackle Pat O'Toole, defensive end Mike Burke, center Jerry Rigelman and quarterback Bill Taylor.

All have been season. Hillsdale's Pat Brown probably will lead the attack in place of Taylor against Bradley. Brown connected on eight of 17 tosses for 102 yards against Kentucky State last week.

Northwood Institute takes a 4-3 record into its final game against Ashland. A victory will give Northwood its best record in its football history. Northwood had a 5-3 record last year.

Viets Respect Med Aid Team

By WILLIAM L. RYAN

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) — Few Americans have impressed Viet Nam's people more than the "bac si."

That is roughly the equivalent for the doctor who carries a weapon the Viet Cong does not possess — medicine that cures, and serums that prevent disease.

Medical aid teams working under the U.S. Agency for International Development program travel to remote hamlets often in areas where no other foreign civilian can go safely.

Not one member of a U.S. AID medical team has been lost to Communist action. Once in a while, they undergo stray fire, but the Viet Cong seem to know better than to deny the villagers what the "bac si" brings.

The medical teams are distinguished by their red berets. Villagers in areas where they have worked know them from a distance, often tip them off in advance if an area is dangerous.

Medical teams work in all four corps areas of South Viet Nam. They are responsible for getting down into the village in support of the Health Ministry's civic action program. The effort is called MEDCAP for Medical Civilian Civic Action Program.

As with every other effort in South Viet Nam, it sometimes encounters political difficulties.

There is a reliable report, for example, that the minister of health has threatened to resign unless he gets better support for the program from the military government.

Medical team members say they think the minister of health, Dr. Tran Van Luy, is a capable and dedicated administrator.

An ambitious health plan has been outlined in the pacification program for Viet Nam, but as with almost everything else, what is on paper seldom jibes with what goes on.

In 10 years, 13,000 health stations have been stocked a American medicine. Hundreds of thousands of Vietnamese have been inoculated against a variety of diseases. Medical teams from 16 nations treat patients by the thousands. Medical schools are being built.

The over-all program is under the command of Maj. Gen. James Humphrey, who achieved fame here by conducting a successful operation to extract a live grenade from the back of a Vietnamese. He is on loan to the U.S. AID program.

MANISTIQUE

School Budget Is Adopted

The Manistique school district board of education at special meeting Wednesday night conducted public hearing and adopted its budget for the 1966-67 year.

The bugget total was increased to $932,931, reflecting an increase of $900 in provision for musical instruments, $4,900 for capital outlay a $5,000 increase in teacher salary provision, following conference on one contract, and a decrease of $900 in substitute salary for teachers.

Leon Wood of Hiawatha Township appeared to ask about a $10,000 Germfask note in the budget, the date of its issue and whether financial records of the former school district had been checked.

Supt. E. E. Wuehle said the Municipal Finance commission would check, and noted the Finance Commission had noted some problem in the Hiawatha district.

Wood stated that this was part of his concern, as one former Hiawatha board member is now on the Manistique school's advisory board and that another is secretary to Mr. Wuehle. He presented a copy of an agenda of the Hiawatha board in which notations were made that Mr. Wuehle had advised the former board it could direct Mr. Wood to newspaper publications and other sources and that the board was not obligated. Wood said he requested audits of the Hiawatha district for 1961-64.

He was advised by Denton Nelson, Manistique board president, that records of the former township districts have been impounded by the Manistique district and that he can see them. Records of the townships are being audited, he said.

Wood also requested information on salaries of secretaries in the Manistique district.

The board approved appointment of Evelyn Berwin as grade school supervisor, in conjunction with duties under the elementary-secondary education act.

Expect Papal Cease Fire Call

VATICAN CITY (AP) — Vatican circles think Pope Paul VI will appeal for a Christmas truce in Viet Nam again this year.

Roving U.S. Ambassador W. Averell Harriman, after a 40-minute meeting with the Pope Wednesday, said he did not rule out the possibility of such a papal appeal.

Vatican circles said they considered a papal call for another cease-fire likely. They said although the Pope was disappointed that the cease-fire last Christmas did not become permanent, the pontiff was deeply satisfied that even a temporary pause in the bloodshed had taken place.

Harriman's visit to the Pope was one of a series he is making to world leaders to report on the Manila summit conference on Viet Nam.

Home Wine Maker Must Be Solid Family Man Type

DETROIT (AP) — The home brew wine maker must be a solid family man, the Alcohol and Tax Division of the Treasury Department said Thursday.

The department allows a tax free exemption for 200 gallons for home consumption, but the wine maker can only serve his immediate family. Unmarried persons and married persons living apart are ineligible under department regulations.

Failure to register with the Alcohol and Tax Division at least five days before crushing grapes may lead to criminal prosecution, and taxation.

$1 Snipped From Newsprint Raise

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — A projected $4-a-ton increase in the price of newsprint in western markets, originally set for Jan. 1, was called off.

Instead, Crown Zellerbach announced, the price will be revised upward only $3 a ton and the date of increase deferred until June 1, 1967.

The company said "the new price averaging $3 a ton above the $134-a-ton level originally established in 1967 supercedes the increase of $4 a ton announced last Sept. 27 and which was to have gone into effect Jan. 1."
